

STATE ROADS TO BE BUILT

In Two Townships of Centre County.

ONE AT SNOW SHOE

And the Other Two In Rush Township—
Bids Will be Received and the Work Pushed to a Finish.

AN ERA OF GOOD ROADS DAWNING

Acting under the new State law in regard to building State Highways, Centre County will soon have three within her boundaries. One in Snow Shoe township and two in Rush township. In this week's Bellefonte Republican will be found an advertisement calling for bids for the construction of the one in Snow Shoe township. Plans and specifications for these roads can now be seen at the County Commissioner's office in this place. The road in Snow Shoe township extends from the railroad crossing at Clarence to the intersection of Sykesmore street and Moehannon Avenue in Snow Shoe. It is 9.274 feet in length and 16 feet wide. These roads when completed are as solid as a floor. They are constructed first with cobble stones laid on end then layers of smaller stones are laid on top and then covered with fine limestone and rolled with a heavy steam roller. It takes some time to complete these roads but when finished they are permanent institutions.

The other two roads are in Rush township. The Sandy Ridge road extends from the railroad crossing in Sandy Ridge to a point on the Osceola road near the property of George Pfouts, a distance of 5,300 feet and 16 feet wide.

The Phillipsburg road extends from the borough line in Phillipsburg at Front street and Ninth street to the Clearfield county line at Troy bridge a distance of about 5,237 feet and 16 feet wide.

If the people of Bellefonte, Spring and Boggs townships had been as progressive and energetic as the people of Snow Shoe and Rush township we could have very easily had a state road from Bellefonte to Milesburg.

Joined in Wedlock.

A very pretty wedding ceremony was celebrated Wednesday at 4 o'clock at the Catholic parsonage on East Bishop street. The contracting parties were Mr. Hugh Boyle and Miss Estella Tanner, both of this place. A brother of the groom, Mr. Frank Boyle, of Hazleton, was best man and Miss Lulu Johnson, bridesmaid. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. McArdle.

After the wedding a delightful supper was served at the home of Mrs. Crisette Tanner, mother of the bride, and later the happy couple departed on the 6:40 train for Hazleton and other eastern cities.

The groom is a chemist at the Bellefonte furnace.

New Assistant Principal for the High School.

At a meeting of the Bellefonte school board, last Thursday evening, James Edwin Dunning, son of the Rev. H. T. Dunning, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Osceola Mills, was elected assistant principal of the Bellefonte High school to succeed John S. Hosterman, resigned to accept the principalship of the Phillipsburg schools. There were two candidates for the vacancy, Mr. Dunning and Francis E. Frey, who last year taught the grammar school in the stone building.

Mr. Dunning is a graduate of Dickinson college and has had one year's experience in teaching. He comes to Bellefonte highly recommended. In addition he is a young man of very impressive appearance and a strong personality. He is a married man but no children.

The continuous rains which have fallen during the past week are doing considerable damage to the crops. In many places the farmers were enabled to haul in their wheat and rye before the rain began to fall, and in consequence of the continuous wet weather the grain has begun to sprout and grow in the shocks.

METHODIST DAY

It Will be Celebrated at Lakemont Park, Thursday, August 2nd.

With the notices of Methodist Day given out Sunday in the 132 churches and Sunday schools of the Altoona district and the 150 in the Juniata district, and in addition several of the churches of the other districts in territory adjacent to Altoona, the programme has become known to nearly 30,000 of the people called Methodists. And they have heard of the coming events of Thursday, August 2nd, with pleasure and great expectations, for the features of the day are very attractive. Faces of men of great prominence in the church and widely known in public life will be seen this year. There is always a charm about a distinguished person who has never visited in a community so strongly Methodist as is this section.

Of the famous preachers that have made the New York East conference a noted body of strong preachers and platform orators, no one has a more deserved reputation for sermon building and delivery than Rev. F. B. Stockdale, D. D., of Meriden, Conn. He will deliver the sermon, which is the chief exercise in the morning. His brethren—and sometimes even ministers are biased by envy—speak highly of his preaching. That's notable.

A bishop who is a world traveler, speaks adventively because of his extensive travels, will be present. The popular evening lecture will be delivered by one of the most interesting men one can meet, a noble man in stature, commanding and inspiring, of vigorous mind and delightful diction. The names that are on this year's programme are of persons that are worth seeing and hearing.

FIFTH ARRIVED FIRST.

Local Guardsmen Now Camping on Historic Battle Ground.

Camp Henderson, Gettysburg, Pa. July 23.—The Fifth regiment from the Altoona district was the first to detain here for the annual encampment, N. G. F., arriving on the siding at 6:20 o'clock Friday morning. They were followed at 7:20 o'clock by the famous Tenth regiment boys, who as in former years, maintained their record for celerity in leaving the cars and getting to their respective places.

The First, Second, Third and Sixth regiments of the First Brigade and the First and Second City troop and Troop A, of Philadelphia, arrived here during the night. Brigadier General John S. Wiley, commander of the Second Brigade was the first commanding officer to arrive and with his entire staff opened headquarters. Major General J. P. S. Gobin and Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart arrived Friday evening and made a tour of the camp. Brigadier General C. B. Dougherty and staff are also here, and have established headquarters.

Troops F, G, and H, of the Thirtieth United States cavalry, arrived from Fort Myer at noon Friday and are located on the McPherson farm. The Governor's troop is here, and acted as an escort for Governor Pennypacker on his arrival Saturday morning when the camp formally opened by the battery firing a salute of thirteen guns, and the raising of the flag in front of the commander-in-chief's headquarters near the "Bloody Angle." The three days "hike" has been abandoned and minor marches will be substituted.

P. O. S. of A. in Annual Reunion.

The Northwestern Reunion association of the P. O. S. of A. to be held at Clearfield on July 26 and 27 is comprised of the members of the different camps located in Clearfield, Centre, Cambria, Elk, Indiana and Jefferson counties. There have been replies had from the different camps throughout the district to justify the committee of arrangements to estimate at least 5,000 out of town visitors. The meeting on the 26th will be composed of delegates which will be composed of delegates which will meet in a business session in the afternoon. A banquet will be held in the evening. July 27 will be the day when the big parade will take place.

Years ago the P. O. S. of A. of Clinton, Lycoming, Centre and Blair counties held reunions annually, but owing to lack of interest the association was disbanded.

Trout Season Will End July 31.

Some of our exchanges are mistaken in saying the trout season closed on Sunday last. You can legally catch brook trout up to and including the last day of this month. The law explicitly states that trout may be taken from April 15 to July 31.

IT IS WAR TO THE KNIFE!

Russian Premier Issues
Orders to Crush
Revolution.

NONE WILL BE SPARED

Revolutionists Hold Meeting's to Discuss
Plans to Overthrow the Government—Great Excitement.

MUCH DISORDER IN ST. PETERSBURG

St. Petersburg, July 25.—War to the knife with revolution, and the knife to the hilt, was proclaimed by Premier Stolypin in a telegram addressed to the governor general, governors and prefects throughout Russia, and to the viceroy of the Caucasus, who are ordered to strike and spare none in efforts to preserve order and crush "the enemies of society."

Included in this category, as shown by the events of the day, are not only revolutionists and socialists, but also the educated liberal and landed classes represented in the Constitutional Democratic party, whose clubs everywhere have been closed, and all the progressive newspapers, which are not permitted to lift their voices anywhere throughout the entire land. Premier Stolypin's telegram is as follows:

"In conformity with instructions received from the emperor with the view to securing full co-operation between the different local authorities, I hereby inform you that the government expects you to exercise vigilant and unflinching supervision over your subordinates so that order may be promptly and definitely restored. Disturbances must be put down by all legal means. The measures you take must be carefully considered. The struggle begun is against the enemies of society and not against society itself. Consequently, wholesale repression cannot be approved of. Imprudent and illegal acts are likely to give rise to discontent instead of conducing to calm and cannot be tolerated. The intentions of the emperor are immutable. The government firmly desires to assist in the amendment of the legal procedure and the laws hitherto enforced which no longer serve their purpose. The old regime will be regenerated, but order must be fully maintained. You must act on your own initiative, as you are invested with responsibility. Firm and vigorous steps taken on these lines will doubtless be upheld by the best part of society."

The manifesto bears a remarkable similarity to the earlier compositions of Ministers of the Interior Plehve and Boulignin, and the reactionary press has had slight difficulty in cutting it down, as they already had done with the imperial manifesto, into an appeal to the "League of Russian Men" and other old school Russians to rise and smite all the progressive classes.

Meetings were held in a dozen houses in St. Petersburg, and just across the frontier railway employees, peasants, socialists and revolutionists of different shades of opinion are discussing the best plan of action to throw the whole machinery of the government out of gear.

Agrarian disorders have broken out in the vicinity of St. Petersburg. The estate of General Baron Fredericks, aide-de-camp to the emperor, 40 miles from the capital, has been plundered by peasants. General Fredericks asked for troops from Gatchina, but was informed that the situation was too serious to permit of the changing of the present military dispositions.

Killing Hebrews in Odessa.

London, July 25.—A dispatch to the Netter Telegram company from Odessa says:

Anti-Hebrew outbreaks have commenced here. Many persons have already been killed or wounded.

Cossacks and rowdies are plundering deserted Hebrew houses and shops.

On Srednala street three Hebrews were killed and three were wounded.

In attempting to defend their property, while the police looked on.

Another bloody conflict is now reported to be in progress in Stepanov street.

The whole city is in a state of panic. Many of the inhabitants are fleeing.

The Black Hundreds are distributing bloodthirsty proclamations in the streets.

—Love and common sense—but what has love in common with sense, anyway?

DEATH FROM BURNS.

Two-year Old Child Fatally Scalded by Pot of Hot Coffee.

Claire, the two-year old child of Daniel and Lila Andrew, was fatally scalded at Grazierville on Thursday afternoon, dying just twenty-four hours after the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew, who are residents of Altoona, were on a visit to the latter's mother at Grazierville. On Thursday afternoon they were at the home of Jonas Eakin, in that village, and Claire was playing near the cook-stove when a pot of hot coffee was overturned in some manner, the scalding fluid falling upon the child's body and burning him frightfully from the neck down. The accident happened at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon and the little sufferer lingered until the same hour Friday afternoon, when he passed away.

The parents and two sisters survive. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Forrest, at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, at the home of Jonas Eakin, at Grazierville. Interment at Charlottes ville cemetery.

Captors of Elopers Get $3 for Services.

Tuesday's Jersey Shore Herald said: "The Gypsy elopers Lewis and Carnation Lovell, who were captured near Ramseyville, on Pine creek, Sunday morning, were Monday night taken to Bellefonte, where the man will be held to answer the charges against him."

"All day yesterday, David Harer and George Slanghenwhite of Larryville tried in vain to ascertain who is the Gypsy king. It seems that the newspapers in this section stated that a reward of $100 would be paid by the Gypsy king for the apprehension of the elopers, and therefore Harer and Slanghenwhite expected the reward. Being unable to locate his myal highness, Foo Foo the First of the Royal Bohemian band, or to extricate $100 or a team of lank ponies from the girl's irate papa, the young men accepted $3 apiece for their trouble and Chief Green turned the pair over to Constable Decker of Bellfonte and with lowered heads, to escape the gaze of the public, they were taken in the Jersey Shore and Antee Forte car to the Pennsylvania station. During their incarceration in the city hall the pair were visited by many."

Italian Goes Free.

Not only did the Italian authorities of the province of Sicily allow Carmine Grillo to prove an alibi in the case in which he was charged with the murder of two persons in Portage, but they allowed Francesco Imbessi, the man who the authorities claim was at the head of the plot which resulted in the death of Charles Hayes and the stealing of $4,000 at Portage in July of 1904, to escape. As a result it is likely that the cruel murder of July 31st, 1904, will go unavenged and that Imbessi will be permitted to enjoy, somewhere, the several thousand dollars he is thought to have secured at the cost of an American's life.

It will be remembered that, on the date mentioned, as Patrick Campbell, superintendent of the mines of the Puritan Coal company, and Charles Hayes, his driver, were driving along a lonely road between Puritan and the Puritan mines, they were shot upon from ambush. Three unknown men, hidden behind bushes and briars on the side of the road, fired at the two men in the buggy. Hayes was killed at the first shot. Campbell fell from the buggy. One of the murderers stood over him and fired two shots from a revolver into his body. Then the men escaped with the money with which Campbell intended to pay his men, about $4,000 in all.

Another Burglary in Bellefonte

Still another robbery was added Wednesday to the long list of petty burglaries committed in this vicinity within the last year. Montgomery & Co's. clothing store, which has been entered by thieves so often, was the scene of Wednesday night's robbery.

The thieves gained an entrance by prying open the upper sash of one of the rear windows. They helped themselves to a suit or two of clothes and other wearing apparel and made good their escape. The robbery was not discovered until the next morning when the clerk opened up the store.

Montgomery & Company do not know exactly how much the loss is.

MARRIED.—Edward Kane and Miss Mollie Keefe were united in marriage Thursday July 19th at St. John's Catholic church by Rev. P. McArdle. Both are residents of Bellefonte.

THE DEATH OF DR. ATHERTON

Venerable Educator Passes to the Great
Beyond.

DIED TUESDAY 3 P. M.

At His Home in State College Borough—
For Twenty-four Years President of the Pennsylvania
State College.

HIS FUNERAL OCCURS FRIDAY JULY 27

On Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock Dr. George W. Atherton, President of the Pennsylvania State College, passed away at his home in State College after an extended illness and from bronchial trouble. It was a year ago last winter that he was first taken sick. He spent three months in lower California in the hope that the climate would prove beneficial. He returned somewhat improved, but the relief was only temporary, and three months ago it became evident that his death was only a matter of weeks.

At the college commencement in June he was present and conferred the degrees on the graduating class, but the exertion was such that his decline has been constant ever since. For the past three days he has been sinking and his end was expected at any minute.

State College is in mourning for the dead educator who after twenty-four years service as president of the college, during which time he saw it grow from a very ordinary college to the great institution of learning it now is, has passed away.

The arrangements for the funeral are about completed and it will take place on Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The services will be held in the Schwab Auditorium and the interment will probably be somewhere on the College campus.

DR. ATHERTON'S CAREER.

Dr. Atherton was born in the village of Roxford, Mass., June 20, 1837. At the age of 12 years his father died and he undertook to aid in the support of his mother and two sisters. First he went to work in a cotton mill, then obtained employment on a farm and while still a young man began teaching school.

During his years of labor in mill and behind the plow he found time to study at odd hours and in the evenings and obtained the foundation for an education. Soon after he began teaching he made for himself opportunities to attend Exeter Academy intermittently, and after completing the course in the preparatory institution worked his way through Yale University, graduating in 1863, when 26 years of age.

But before securing his degree at the university he served two years as lieutenant and captain of the Tenth Connecticut Volunteers in the Civil War. His promotion to the higher rank came in recognition of valiant service on the battlefield.

EDUCATIONAL LABORS BEGIN.

In December 1863, he was married to Frances D. W. Washburn and accepted a position as instructor in the Albany Boys' School, where he served until 1867. He was a professor in St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., 1867-8, and at the University of Illinois, 1868-9. He then accepted the chair of political economy and constitutional law at Rutgers, N. J., and labored in that institution until 1882.

In 1875 he was on the commission appointed to investigate the Red Cloud Indian Agency. He was also chairman of the commission appointed to digest and revise the New Jersey system of taxation. He was admitted to the bar of that State in 1878 and in 1882 was made president of State College in Pennsylvania.

His work in that institution put it almost immediately in the forefront of educational institutions of its kind and the general methods adopted have been followed by many institutions in the Western States.

AUTHOR OF HISTORICAL WORKS.

Owing to advancing years and declining health, Dr. Atherton urged the trustees to relieve him of active duty several months ago and after the students' strike last winter, an incident which distressed the aged president greatly, he insisted that he could no longer find strength and vitality to carry on his work.

He was therefore granted a leave of absence, but prevailed upon to remain nominally at the head of the college until a man suitable to take up his work could be found. There have been many applicants, but the trustees have not yet felt that the right man has appeared.

Dr. Atherton was the author of several historical works, including "Magna Charta," "Comparative View of the Barons' Articles" and "The Great Charter."

Funeral of Samuel Sweitzer.

The remains of Samuel Sweitzer, the unfortunate young man who was killed in Boston, Mass., last Friday night, July 13, arrived in Bellefonte Wednesday evening and was taken to the home of his father, Abram Sweitzer at Coleville.

Thursday morning at 11 o'clock the funeral took place from the house, the services being conducted by Rev. Ambrose Schmidt, of the Reformed church. It was a military funeral and the services were very solemn and impressive. The funeral cortege was headed by Lieutenants Garbrick and Gettig. Then came the Coleville band playing a solemn dirge and then Company B, 5th Regiment N. G. P., of which deceased was at one time a member. Following these were several comrades of Samuel Sweitzer, who went out with him under the late Lieut. George L. Jackson and served with the 47th Regiment in the far off Philippines. The hearse with its guard of honor from Company B, and friends and relatives in carriages made up the sad procession which wended its way to the last resting of the dead—the Union cemetery.

The casket bearers were: Charles Scott, Gus Wian, William Allen, Harry Valance, Richard Taylor and Lemuel Poorman.

ABOUT KING COAL.

The Output Last Year in Round Numbers Was 660,000,000.

We have long been accustomed to asserting that iron is the king. Our annual value of iron and steel manufactures is now about $900,000,000 or $100,000,000 less than the capitalization of the United States Steel Corporation. We have heard also of king cotton. With a crop of 13,000,000 bales, at an average price of 9 cents a bale, this king is worth $584,000,000. There is king corn. One of the situations gives the crop of 1904 at 92,467,480,934 bushels. It we drop the "9" and make it 2,467,480,934 we may be about right. Value, $1,087,000,000. Our annual wheat crop is worth a little more than half a million.

What of king coal, the jolly old soul? The output last year was in round numbers 660,000,000 tons, worth at the pit's mouth $1.35 a ton. Suppose we pay $4 a ton? There is a value of $1,440,000,000. Our total annual gold output is only a bagatelle of some $80,000,000. And gold, the most precious metal, is seldom worth more than its intrinsic mining value. Coal? It is the foundation of all the sciences and arts; for without it there would be no manufactures, no iron, no steel, no corn, no wheat to speak of. Without it where would we get gas, electricity, railroads, steam craft and a thousand other necessities of civilization? Coal is surely king.

Madam Rumor Says.

That religious song is frequently a potent instrument for good.

That no good thing comes to pass save as the result of earnest endeavor.

That he who speaks from a sincere heart to others seldom speaks in vain.

That strangers in town will find our ways a little homely, but that should be no fault.

That the home missionary will always find an abundance of work waiting for his attention.

That the enthusiasm of youth and the wisdom of age surely do make a powerful combination.

That the men and women who are fit and faithful are going to get the world's profitable places.

That there never was a time in the history of the world when character was a more valuable asset than it is now.

That the Book spoke an eternal truth when it declared that he who would have friends must show himself friendly.

Kills Mad Dog in class Room

"What to do in case a mad dog bursts into a room" was the unexpected problem the solution of which Dean J. F. Downey demonstrated to his class in pedagogy at the State University Summer school at Minneapolis, Minn. He was lecturing to a class of young women, when through an open door a mad dog burst into the room. Dean Downey luckily had in his desk a large revolver and with it he killed the dog at the first shot.

Is Disease a Crime?

Not very long ago, a popular magazine published an editorial article in which the writer asserted, in substance, that all disease should be regarded as criminal. Certain it is, that much of the sickness and suffering of mankind is due to the violation of certain of Nature's laws. But to say that all sickness should be regarded as criminal, must appeal to every reasonable individual as radically wrong.

It would be harsh, unsympathetic, cruel, yes criminal, to condemn the poor, weak, over-worked housewife who sinks under the heavy load of household cares and burdens, and suffers from weakness, various displacements of pelvic organs and other derangements peculiar to her sex.

Frequent bearing of children, with its exacting demands upon the system, coupled with the care, worry and labor of rearing a large family, is often the cause of weakness, derangements and debility which are aggravated by the many household cares, and the hard, and never-ending work which the mother is called upon to perform. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the cure for woman's peculiar weaknesses and this Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription says that one of the greatest obstacles to the cure of this class of maladies is the fact that the over-worked housewife can not get the time and rest from her many household cares to enable her to secure from the use of his "Prescription" its full benefits. It is a matter of frequent experience, he says, that the extensive practice in these cases, to wit: those in which his treatment fails, is the patient's inability to abstain from doing work long enough to be cured. It is those suffering from protracted menstruation and retroversion of the uterus or other displacements of the woman's organs, it is very necessary that, in addition to taking his "Favorite Prescription," they abstain from doing very much, or for long periods, on their feet. All heavy lifting or straining of any kind should also be avoided. As much rest as possible, with moderate, light exercises is also very important. Let the patient observe these rules and the "Favorite Prescription" will do the rest.

FIFTY CENTS

IN some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion is very rapid. For this reason we put up a fifty-cent size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children. In other conditions the gain is slower—health cannot be built up in a day. In such cases Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment; a food rather than a medicine. It's a food for tired and weak digestions.

THE DOUMA'S FINAL ACT

Banished Russian Parliament Calls On People to Seize Liberty.

ADOPT REVOLUTIONARY ADDRESS

Members, Having Fled to Finland, Urge People Not to Pay Taxes Or Recruit Army—Dispersed By Governor of Viborg.

Viborg, Finland, July 24.—The curtain dropped on the final act of the drama of Russia's first parliament, when, under the spur of the threat of Governor Reichenberg to use military force to end the session, and with troops already converging on the Hotel Bellevue, where the meeting was held, the assembled members of the lower house, 186 in number, hurriedly adopted and signed an address to the people which is thoroughly revolutionary in its nature, elected a perpetual executive committee headed by Prince Paul Dolgoroukoff, vice president of the house, to carry on the work of liberation, and adjourned amidst characteristic Russian embracing and kissing.

A few members, including President Mouroumzeff, Ivan Petrunkevitch and Count Heyden, returned to St. Petersburg. The Constitutional Democratic cohorts intend to go to St. Petersburg in a body; but many of the radical members, fearing their arrest on their arrival at the capital, will remain for the present in Finland or return by roundabout routes.

The address, which bears a remarkable similarity to the manifesto framed by the council of workmen last November, which landed its authors and the editors of eight St. Petersburg newspapers in cells of the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, strikes the government in its most vulnerable point by declaring that the administration and not parliament is responsible for the delay in the settlement of the agrarian question and by proclaiming a cessation of payment of taxes and of military service and repudiation of future loans. The address is as follows:

"To the people from their popular representatives:

"Citizens of all Russia: Parliament has been dissolved by ukase of July 21. You elected us as your representatives and instructed us to fight for our country and freedom. In execution of your instructions and our duty we drew up laws in order to ensure freedom to the people. We demanded the removal of irresponsible ministers who were infringing the laws with impunity and oppressing freedom. First of all, however, we wanted to bring out a law respecting the distribution of land to working peasants and involving the assignment to this class of seven apportioned, monasteries and lands belonging to the clergy, and compulsory expropriation of private estates. The government held such a law to be inadmissible, and upon parliament once more unflinchingly going forward its resolution regarding compulsory expropriation parliament was dissolved.

The government promises to convene a new parliament seven months hence. Russia must remain without popular representation for seven whole months, at a time when the people are standing on the brink of ruin, and industry and commerce are undermined, when the whole country is seething with unrest and when the ministry has definitely shown its incapacity to do justice to peculiar needs. For seven months the government will act arbitrarily and will fight against the popular movement in order to obtain a pliable, subservient parliament. Should it succeed, however, in completely suppressing the popular movement the government will convolve no parliament at all.

"Citizens, stand up for your trampled rights, for popular representation and for an imperial parliament. Russia must not remain a day without popular representation. You possess the means of acquiring it. The government has, without the assent of the popular representatives, no right to collect taxes from the people nor to summon the people to military service. Therefore, you are now the government. The dissolved parliament was justified in giving neither money nor soldiers. Should the government, however, contract loans in order to procure funds, such loans will be invalid without the consent of the popular representatives. The Russian people will never acknowledge them and will not be called upon to pay them. Accordingly, until a popular representative parliament is summoned do not give a kopeck to the throne or a soldier to the army. Be steadfast in your refusal. No power can resist the united, inflexible will of the people.

"Citizens, in this obligatory and unavoidable struggle your representatives will be with you."

Hebrews Fear Massacre.

Odesa, July 24.—The Hebrews here are in a state of panic, fearing an anti-Hebrew outbreak as the result of the killing of a drunken Cossack, who recently wandered through the Hebrew quarter, brandishing his sabre and shouting "Death to the Jews." Governor General Kribars, addressing a deputation of Hebrews, said: "I vouch for my soldiers, but I am unable to say what the Cossacks or Christian civilians might do." The slightest incident might start trouble.

MANY DEAD IN RAILROAD WRECK

Twenty-three Killed in Collision On Seaboard Air Line.

Charlotte, N. C., July 23.—Seaboard Air Line passenger train No. 44 collided with an extra freight near Hamlet, and at least 23 people were killed and 26 or more were injured. The trains collided head on. Engineer F. B. Lewis, of Hamlet, and his fireman, Tom Hill, were killed, and from 18 to 25 passengers, most of them negroes, according to reports received here, lost their lives, while the list of injured is reported to reach 20 or more. Only a few of the dead have been identified. A special was made up to carry the dead and injured to Rockingham. The wreck was caused by misunderstanding of orders. Both engines, nearly all coaches and box cars were demolished. Track completely blocked.

Diet of Pickles and Vinegar Fatal. St. Louis, July 24.—A long continued diet of principally pickles and vinegar in the hope of reducing weight caused the sudden death of Miss Annie Gross, 32 years old. A post mortem examination revealed that the inner walls of her stomach were almost completely eaten away. The girl dropped dead while taking a drink of water.

Jerome at Deer Park, Md. Deer Park, Md., July 24.—District Attorney William Travers Jerome and Assistant District Attorney Garvan, of New York, arrived here and are the guests of Colonel John T. McGraw, of West Virginia, a member of the Democratic national committee.

Republican Campaign Committee Against Tariff Revision.

CONFERENCE AT OYSTER BAY

Plans of Campaign Laid Before President Roosevelt, Who Expressed Himself in Accord With Them—Headquarters to Be in New York.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 24.—President Roosevelt reviewed the campaign plans of the Republican congressional committee and pronounced them good and entirely to his liking. He entertained at luncheon at Sagamore Hill Speaker Cannon, Chairman Sherman, of the congressional committee; Representatives Loudenslager, of New Jersey, and McKinley, of Illinois, respectively secretary and treasurer of the committee. Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, came on a later train and also was a guest. Secretary Loeb was present, and after the conference made this statement for the press:

"The plans of the congressional campaign were gone over generally, and the president expressed himself as being in entire accord with the ideas of the committee."

Speaker Cannon's comment was this: "I was a guest of the president, and as such it would hardly be seemly for me to discuss what took place. I should like to say that the conference was eminently satisfactory, and the congressional campaign situation not bad."

Chairman Sherman, after remarking that the president's keen interest was a valuable asset to the campaign, said that the headquarters of the committee would be opened in New York in the St. James building, Wednesday, and that from that time on the campaign work would go on continuously.

Mr. Sherman added that the speakers so far selected for the heavy work included Secretary Taft, Secretary Shaw, Speaker Cannon, Senator Beveridge and several other senators, as well as practically the entire Republican membership of the house of representatives.

While no one would speak under quotation regarding the tariff, it was learned that the Republican text book which is to be issued within two or three weeks will be a "stand pat" document from beginning to end, and that this will be the tenor of Republican speeches in Massachusetts, Iowa, Wisconsin and other "idea" infected sections of the country, as well as in all other places. The "stand pat" announcement will of course be accompanied by the statement that when the tariff is revised it should be handled by its friends.

Speaker Cannon is to go to Illinois at once. The new primary system is to be tried in his district, and as he has not attended one of his nominating conventions for 30 years, it is his intention to be present on the 19th of August, when he expects a renomination. He will go to Maine in September to lend his aid to the early campaign in that state, and especially in the second district, where Representative Littlefield is having trouble.

Snow Sank During Storm.

Detroit, May 24.—A special from Iron Mountain, Mich., says: Thirty-five persons went down in 12 feet of water with a scow at Red Eagle Lake during the storm. Launches and steamers were hurried to the rescue and not a fatality resulted, although several were taken unconscious from the hull. The passengers on the ill-fated scow were members of a Swedish picnic party.

KEEP THE KIDNEY WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some People Know How to Save It.

Many Bellefonte people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill-health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills.

W. R. Camp, of the firm of Kirk-Camp Furniture Co., Logan Ave. and 14th St., Tyrone, Pa., says: "Experience has taught me that Doan's Kidney Pills is an excellent remedy and one that strictly fulfills its promises. In the fall of 1897 I gave for publication in our local papers a statement covering my experience with this remedy and recommending it to others, and now in the month of June, 1904, I just as enthusiastically recommend it as I did at that time. Doan's kidney pills completely relieved me of an aching in the small of my back and lameness through the loins due to kidney trouble. We always keep this preparation in the house, for use in case of need, and it has never failed to give splendid satisfaction. I heartily endorse it."

Delights of a House-Wagon.

Living in a house-wagon, combining as it does the delight of camping with the pleasure of traveling, is one of the finest ways in the world of having fun in the summer, and is within the reach of most boys. Of course, there will be necessarily some expenditure, but if economy and forethought are used, and the expenses divided up among the crowd, it will make a cheap outing, and the longer you stay the cheaper will be the rate per day, because practically all expenses occurs in the original outlay. After you are on the road or in camp there is little opportunity to spend money, even if you so desire.

For the boys who cannot go on the road there is still plenty of fun. It is not even necessary to spend a cent in order that a small boy may have fun camping in a wagon. Neither is it necessary to own or hire a horse, because the camp need not be movable.

If you have an old wagon in the back lot, a tent may be made over it by erecting a pole at each end, fastening a line across and then throwing across it a piece of canvas, carpet, oilcloth or say "old thing" which will serve for a protection from the sun. A box under the wagon seat can be used to conceal your camp "duffle" when you are not at home.—Dan Beard in Woman's Home Companion for August.

EDITORIAL.

Mr. Emery is honest enough to declare that he is no prohibitionist. Yet he is willing to accept prohibition endorsement.

Our prohibition brethren will soon begin to think very highly of themselves if the two old parties keep on bidding for their support.

The election of a republican congress is very important, of course, but not a whit more so than the election of a republican governor in Pennsylvania.

King Edward is said to be in failing health again. The truth is he has already lasted much longer than his most ardent friends expected at the time he ascended the throne.

Notwithstanding the "smart" things said about Philadelphia by the wits of other cities, it is the typical American city, a place of happy homes, a community of which all true Americans may well be proud.

The school officials in many places are complaining that so many of the lady teachers are resigning to get married. But the question is, how can they hope to keep in the educational service a teacher who is at once a beauty and a good cook?

When Dr. Swallow asks questions of Mr. Emery, the candidate of hypocrisy for governor, it becomes impertinence. And the regard the hybrid ticket has for prohibition and its leaders is clearly shown by the haste with which they proceed to throw mud at Dr. Swallow the moment he disagrees with their out and dried plans.

REWARD TO BE PAID.

For the Capture of Green, Dillen and Henderson Two Years Ago.

Judge Telford in the Centre county court Wednesday, July 18, handed down a decision in the long pending case of O. A. Harvey, Horace Stiver and Elmer F. Flanagan, who claimed the reward of $600 offered for the capture of Green, Dillen and Henderson, who escaped from the Centre county jail. The court ordered the county commissioners to pay the reward to the above gentlemen. There were nine other claimants for the reward.

How Habit Often Leads Us.

Few people appreciate the immense effect of repetition in conduct—how having done a thing once it is easier to do it again, and at last the act or state becomes almost or wholly automatic. If one is awakened for three or four mornings at a particular time one goes to wake at it of one's own accord. There is no one who has not had experience of this, yet few people have reflected how much it means as regards the power of custom.

A German scientist who has been writing on the subject and conducting experiments in the matter does not hesitate to say that over half of our daily life is a pure matter of automatic performance—we go on doing things because we did them so yesterday and the day before, and giving no reflection to them. As he expressed it:

"Humanity is led by the nose of habit. It makes us do things without thinking of them, and it makes one perform them almost unconsciously and with little effect."

"Half of one's life is a serious slice out of it, and it is just as well to be anxious as to the direction in which that guidance is leading on."

The Worker's Vacation.

Choose the place wisely.

Don't go beyond your pocketbook.

It's a poor game posing to be what you are not.

You are one of the world's workers, and have no cause to feel ashamed of it.

Choose a place where you can rest body and mind.

You need to recuperate your strength and get new ideas.

Don't go where you will need to dress above your means.

Nor expect to outshine the other women in the place.

Go where you will be likely to meet stimulating people.

Where you will have a comfortable room and decently cooked meals.

It won't pay to sacrifice either of these things for the sake of a little style on the outside.

Plan to get all the real good you can out of your few weeks, for they are given you to help you to be a better workman for the winter's work.

Baroness Marie Sulzberger of Austria, who came recently to this county, is president of the Empress Elizabeth Home of Vienna, an institution giving instruction in music and art to women forced to make their way in the world.

It has been in existence six years and has proved very useful. A number of American women have profited by its privileges. The baroness, who has been one of the chief contributors to its expenses, has wondered at this and since her arrival in New York, has been surprised to learn that the American girl has no place in this country where she can go to learn music and painting without expense.

Baroness Sulzberger is the widow of an Austrian statesman. Since her husband's death she has devoted herself to philanthropy. She will make a tour of the United States to study the methods of charitable work.

Quince Jelly.

Wipe the quinces, remove the stem and blossom ends, cut in quarters and remove the seeds. Put in a granite ware preserving kettle, and add cold water to come nearly to the top of the fruit. Cover, and cook slowly until the fruit is soft. Mash and drain through a coarse sieve; then allow the juice to drip through a jelly bag. Boil for twenty minutes, add an equal quantity of heated sugar, boil for five minutes, skim and turn into glasses. Let stand twenty-four hours in a light place, then cover.—Fannie Merritt in Woman's Home Companion for August.

The Good Old Fashioned Way.

An old fashioned woman said little and spanked much; the new fashioned woman says much and spanks little. When we think of the spankings we used to get when we were little, we are inclined to think the new fashioned woman the best, but when we see the 8, 10 and 12 year old boys standing around on the streets and cursing and swearing, chewing tobacco and black guarding, we are inclined to think the departed old fashioned woman is a sad loss to the world.

The Public Abandoning Wall St.

Wall Street is going through a course of discipline these days. It is being scourged for its own sins and for the sins of its allies. The punishments which are being meted out to it is the severest imaginable. The blow falls where it hurts worst—on the pocket.

The public is keeping out of Wall Street. It is taking this method of showing its lack of confidence in "The Street" and its practices, and in the practices of those who are more or less identified with the financial dealings having their origin and operation in that quarter. The only way the public has of passing a vote of lack of confidence in Wall Street is to keep away, and that it is doing, and in a manner to enforce attention. A loss of public confidence as reflected in a loss of business and commissions is most effective. It is in reality the only way of touching the Wall Street conscience. The epicurean philosophy that the best way to reach a man's heart is through his stomach must be amended in its application to Wall Street, for there the pocket is paramount.

In the language of a distinguished exile, once all powerful in New York politics, Wall Street is "Working for its pocket all the time." For nearly a year the complaint has been that it is "every-thing going out and nothing coming in," and that no matter how attractive the display of goods may be, the public will not buy. Wall Street being a manufacturing community this manifestation of popular disapproval cuts deep and hurts. All sort of explanations and excuses are made by sufferers to account for the public's aloofness, but the real reason is ignored as much as possible.

On the whole it will probably be just as well for the public to continue to keep out of Wall Street permanently.

There are so many other and better ways of investing money than in marginal trades in the stocks dealt in on the big exchanges that there is really no inducement to put surplus capital into that field.

There are great numbers of unpretentious enterprises of unquestioned merit which are now seeking modest recognition, and it is into these that the thrifty people of moderate means should invest their spare money. It is worthy of note that the class of investors mentioned is adopting this very course of action instead of contributing to the giant industries focusing in Wall Street.—W. G. Nicholas in Cent per Cent for July.

To Republicans.

Q We are anxious to have every Republican in close touch, and working in harmony with the Republican National Congressional Committee in favor of the election of a Republican Congress.

The Congressional campaign must be based on the administrative and legislative record of the party, and, that being so, Theodore Roosevelt's personality must be a central figure and his achievements a central thought in the campaign.

We desire to maintain the work of this campaign with popular subscriptions of One Dollar each from Republicans. To each subscriber we will send the Republican National Campaign Text Book and all documents issued by the Committee.

Help us achieve a great victory.

The Independent Farmer.

Buy a farm, young man. No matter how small it may be, buy a farm and prepare it so that your land will provide you a living. Twenty years from now the man who owns his own farm will be independent and will have at his command the means of a livelihood. The expansion of manufactures cannot go on forever, and there will come a day in this country, as there has in others, when the supply will exceed the demand and the only absolutely sure occupation will be farming. Buy a farm while time may be had.—Troy (Kan.) Chief.

Wonderful.

An old farmer and his wife, were attending church one hot Sabbath day. The windows were open and the noisy chorus of the cickets was distinctly audible. In due course the choir sang an anthem, and the old man, a music lover, listened enraptured. At its conclusion he turned to his wife and whispered: "Ain't that glorious and divine, Mirandy?"

"Yes," she answered, "and to think they do it all with their hind legs."

SOLD USED TAX STAMPS

New York State Defrauded of Over $200,000.

New York, July 25.—Charged with selling mortgage tax stamps and stock transfer tax stamps that had already been used, five men were arrested on complaint of the state comptroller, Attorney General Mayer and District Attorney Jerome. The authorities charge that the state government has been defrauded of $200,000. The men, all of whom were arrested in Wall street, are Frederick Thompson, a clerk; William O'Reilly, Patrick King, C. H. Lawrence and Luke McSherry, a retired fireman, all of Brooklyn. The case was first brought to the attention of the police on June 27 last, when representatives of the state comptroller, the attorney general and the district attorney informed Inspector McLaughlin that they had reason to believe an organized band was engaged in selling these stamps after they had once been used. It is alleged that the stamps were removed by the use of chemicals, after which the stamps were ironed.

WORST FORM OF PEONAGE

About 100 German Immigrants Held as Slaves in Lumber Camp. Pensacola, Fla., July 25.—Peonage in its worst form is charged against the officers of the Jackson Lumber company at Lockhart, Ala., and United States deputies, armed with warrants for their arrest, left here for that place. If the allegations are true, about 100 immigrants, mostly Germans, are held in the lumber camps of that company virtually as slaves.

A party of Germans reached here from the camp, stating that they had escaped. They went to the German vice counsel for protection, and told him a tale of ill treatment and cruelty that has hardly a parallel in the South. They allege that they are compelled to eat after the Americans, and whenever nothing was left they got nothing to eat. If they attempted to leave and were caught, they charge, they were severely beaten. They allege that when the men do not work to suit those in charge of them the men are stripped, held across a log and piled with a strap or any instrument of torture at hand.

WILL FIGHT COAL COMPANIES

Prospect of Losing Their Homes Stir Property Owners to Action.

Centralia, Pa., July 25.—Stirred to action by the prospect that their homes are likely to be swallowed by the Centralia mines of the Lehigh Valley Coal company, more than 50 merchants, miners and professional men met in the council chambers here and formed a property owners' protective league. It was unanimously decided that those present, with as many more land owners as can be induced to join, will put up a legal fight against the robbing of mine pillars supporting the surface. The entire anthracite region will be asked to join in the movement. The Lehigh company claims the right to remove these supports on notifying the surface owners, who paid the coal company for the land, to move.

TRIED WHOLESOME POISONING

Negress Put Rough on Rats in Coffee at Hotel.

Meridian, Miss., July 25.—Anna Nolan, a negress, employed at the Lauderdale Springs hotel, about 40 miles above this city, was arrested, charged with an attempt at wholesale poisoning of the proprietor, attaches and guests of the hotel. It is claimed that the woman placed a quantity of rough on rats in the coffee served to the guests for supper, in retaliation for a grievance against the proprietor. Two of the guests are reported as very ill from the effects of the poison.

LIGHTNING KILLS FIVE

Struck Grand Stand at Base Ball Park in Wisconsin Town.

Manitowoc, Wis., July 23.—Five persons were killed and more than a score injured by a bolt of lightning which struck the grandstand of the baseball park, where 180 people had gathered to see a game between a local team and a nine from Plymouth, Wis.

When the storm came up and it began to rain, all sought shelter in the grandstand. The bolt struck the roof and descended among the crowd, and of the 150 people there half were stunned. Two were found dead in the stand and the other three just outside on the field.

GIRL DROWNED IN LAKE

Capsize Canoe to Secure Handkerchief She Dropped.

Johnstown, Pa., July 25.—While rowing in a small pleasure canoe on Lake Rowena at Ebensburg, this county, Miss Grace McNulty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. McNulty, of Carnegie, Pa., reached from the boat to secure a handkerchief which she had dropped, and in so doing was drowned.

Miss McNulty, with her sister, Miss Bessie, was visiting the summer assembly at the popular pleasure resort, and with Eugene Herron, aged 15, spent the afternoon on the lake. There were several others present on the lake at the time, who went to her assistance when the boat capsized, but the weight of her clothing kept her from rising. The lake was partially drained and the body recovered by grappling hooks.

The Herron boy, who is a son of Charles A. Herron, of Pittsburgh, was with great difficulty rescued, and is now at the Mountain house, Ebensburg, in a precarious condition.

LEPER AT GOLDEN RING, MD.

Will Be Cared For There Until Other Arrangements Are Made.

Baltimore, July 25.—George Rossett, the Syrian leper, whose presence at various points has lately agitated Philadelphians and the people of western Maryland and West Virginia towns, is still at Golden Ring, Md., where he was examined by City Bacteriologist Stokes and Dr. John S. Fulton, secretary of the state board of health, who, after microscopical examination of diseased tissues taken from the man's body, pronounce his case of genuine leprosy. Dr. Fulton, however, says that the Syrian's disease may be said to be practically non-communicable in this climate. Rossett's present desire is to make his way to Palestine, where there is a stream, the miraculous power of which, he believes, will heal him of his affliction.

The health authorities will care for Rossett as well as possible at Golden Ring until arrangements can be made for his conveyance to some one of the leper colonies.

NEW WITNESS IN THAW CASE

Mysterious Woman Taken to District Attorney's Office.

New York, July 25.—Much speculation was caused at the district attorney's office by the appearance there of a new witness in the Thaw case, whose identity none of the officials concerned would make known. She was a woman past 40 years of age. She came to the criminal courts building in company with P. L. Bergoff, the detective whom Stanford White employed when he is said to have feared injury from Thaw. The detective and the woman went to the office of Assistant District Attorney Turnbull where they were closeted for an hour, a stenographer being in attendance. A great deal of attention seemed to be paid to the woman, and her appearance was taken to mean that she had something of importance to contribute to the district attorney's case. When she went out she was escorted not only by Bergoff, who came with her, but by a policeman attached to the district attorney's staff.

TAMMANY MAY SUPPORT HEARST

Murphy Speaks of Him For Governor of New York.

New York, July 25.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, said that it was possible that Tammany Hall would probably support William H. Hearst for the Democratic nomination for governor in the next state convention. Mr. Murphy said: "Mind I don't commit myself. I don't say that Tammany will be for Hearst. I only say that his opposition to our ticket last year will not, of itself, make it impossible for Tammany to support him in convention."

Mr. Murphy said that he had no opinion to express at this time as to whether or not Mr. Hearst would be a candidate.

MANOEUVRES AT GETTYSBURG

Pennsylvania Guard Repeats Movements of Union Troops.

Gettysburg, Pa., July 25.—The principal feature in the camp of the Pennsylvania national guard on the Gettysburg battlefield was the manoeuvres of the First, Second, Third and Sixth regiments of the First brigade. Under orders of Major General Gobin, these troops left their camp early, and as near as possible repeated the movements of the Union troops on the second day of the battle of Gettysburg. The principal activities centered about the Devil's Den, Wheat Field and Peach Orchard.

While the Philadelphia troops were fighting an imaginary foe, the Second brigade was going through the annual inspection. The entire brigade was inspected, and after it was over in inspector General Sweeney expressed himself as highly pleased with the appearance of the brigade. During the inspection Governor Pennypacker visited the parade grounds and closely watched the examination of the regiments.

Passed Burning Vessel at Sea.

New York, July 25.—The burning hull of an abandoned iron vessel was sighted about 900 miles east of Sandy Hook light on July 21 by the Austrian steamer Francisca, which arrived here Trieste and Palermo. All of the decks, spars and woodwork of the vessel had been destroyed by the flames. There was nothing about the craft to reveal her identity.

Hot Shot at Catalogue Houses.

When the catalogue comes from your mail order house, draw an easy chair to the table where the light will shine full upon the page, and put on your glasses that no bargains may escape your eye.

What a wonderful book it is, to be sure! wonderful for what it does not contain as well as what it does. You will miss some things you would be glad to see.

Where is their offer to pay cash or exchange goods for your wheat, oats, corn, beans, butter, eggs and hay?

How much do they pay for cattle, sheep and hogs, f. o. b. at your depot?

How much tax will they pay to support and educate your children, for improving roads and bridges, the support of the poor of the country, for the expense of running the business of the township, county and state?

On what page is their offer to contribute money to the church?

What line of credit will they extend to you when your crops are poor and money gone, when, through illness or misfortune you are not able to send "cash with order" for your groceries?

In short, will they do anything to provide a market for what you have to sell and thereby keep up the value of your estate? Will they do anything for social church, school or government support, or do they take your dollar out of the community with no returns except the goods you buy?

Think this over carefully, then call on your local dealer, where you can see and examine the goods before you buy them, and by comparison of prices and quality you will see that you can do as well or better at home, and you keep the money at home, thereby helping to build up your local town.

Dropped Dead While Out Walking.

Friday's Philadelphia Journal gives the following version of E. I. Gilliland's death, mention of which was made in these columns a few days ago.

Edward I. Gilliland, who only a few months ago moved from Pottersdale to Clearfield, and who was one of Clearfield county's most prominent citizens and successful business men, died very suddenly last evening while on a visit to his former home, where three of his sons still reside and where he still retains extensive interest, especially in connection with the lumbering business.

After partaking of his supper, he walked down the creek to look over some lumber. About 9 o'clock, failing to return, his sons started in search of him, and to their horror found his lifeless body on the bank of the stream. His death, it is thought, resulted from a sudden attack of heart trouble. The deceased was aged about 60 years. He is survived by his second wife and five sons and four daughters. One of his sons, J. L., is cashier of the County National bank, Clearfield.

Birth-marks which mark and mar the outside of the body are a grief to every mother whose children may bear them. But for every child who bears a birth-mark on the skin there are many who bear an indelible birth-mark on the mind. Nervous mothers have nervous children and many a man and woman owes an irritable and despondent temperament to those days of dread when the mother waited the hour of her maternity. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription strengthens the mother for her trial. With strength comes a buoyancy of spirits and quietness of mind, which is one of the happiest gifts a mother can bestow on her offspring. By giving vigor and elasticity to the delicate womanly organs "Favorite Prescription" practically does away with the pain of maternity and makes the baby's advent as natural and as simple as the blossoming of flower. There is no opium, cocaine or other narcotic contained in "Favorite Prescription."

Pair to Wed on Ship As it Plows Atlantic.

With the blue waves of the Atlantic dancing around the ship, M. Hall Cowan and Miss Allie Whyte will be married at sea. Mr. Cowan is now in Trinidad, and Miss Whyte sailed recently from New York to meet at him Grenada.

Under the British law governing the West Indian Islands no resident can take an alien bride in marriage under two weeks' residence on her part.

Mr. Cowan and the young woman decided they could overcome this delay by having the wedding take place beyond the three-mile limit, where English law does not apply.

The bride will be met at Grenada by Mr. Cowan, a clergyman, and one witness and the ceremony will be quickly performed. Then when the ship arrives at Trinidad they will walk ashore and take up their residence in the pretty home that the bridegroom has provided. Miss Whyte's parents reside in Windsor Canada.

A Boy's Devilish Deed

Little George Fasnott, an eleven year old son of George Fasnott, of Danville; was drowned Wednesday afternoon at that place by accidentally falling into the deep abandoned soaking pit at the old dismantled steel plant, it was supposed. Thursday starting developments came to light, which put an entirely different phase on the case.

The lad, it was learned, did not fall into the soaking pit, as was reported, but was thrown in by a fifteen year old boy of the Jesse Pomeroy type, who laughed with fiendish glee at the struggles of the drowning boy until he sank to his death. The boy's name is Clarence Carr and he is now in jail charged with the crime by the coroner's jury. According to the testimony of a lad named Erp, who was near at the time, Carr threw the victim into the water and watched him struggle until his strength gave out. Erp was afraid to tell any one as he was in deadly fear of the Carr boy, but finally confided in his mother, who made the facts known and an investigation was made. The unfortunate boy's body was found, as Erp stated in the pit, and a coroner's jury was empaneled and after making an investigation, held Carr for causing his death.

The Growls of a Grizzled Bachelor

Faint heart in time may save a breach-of-promise suit.

It is unsafe to make love out of an ink-bottle—or any other way.

He thinks he is marrying his ideal, but she sometimes turns out to be his ordeal.

Some women's love is about as full of warmth and truth as the epitaph on a lawyer's tombstone.

The only appreciable difference between a woman and a girl is that the woman is a little more so.

The elevator-boy in a certain department store recently went crazy, driven to it by the questions asked him by women shoppers.

Big Steam Shovel Buried

The work of the Pinkerton construction company at Aughenbachs has been progressing nicely for the past several weeks, but will be held up for several days because of a peculiar accident which occurred Friday night as the result of the heavy rain storm which passed over this section before midnight, says the Jersey Shore Herald.

The rain fell in such torrents as to stop all work. The water played upon the loose dirt and a landslide result-d. One of the big steam shovels was completely covered up by the fall of dirt and will have to be dug out. Fortunately none of the men were working at the time, or some of them would have doubtlessly been buried alive. The company is hindered in its work by the numerous small wrecks which occur almost nightly. On last Tuesday evening there were nine small wrecks during the night and each time the cars had to be put back on the track.

Engineer Jumps to Death.

A sad fatality occurred in the Hamersley district near South Fork, a few days ago, by which Engineer Thomas Maroney was instantly killed.

Mr. Maroney was in charge of a log train that was running from the woods heavily loaded with logs. While going down a steep grade of the road Mr. Maroney lost control of the train and seeing that death was imminent if he remained at his post, he, together with the firemen and scaler, jumped for their lives. The other men were not badly injured, but Mr. Maroney in jumping struck a bank with such force as to rebound toward the train and he was struck and instantly killed by a log which protruded from the train. His skull was crushed. Deceased lived at Cross Fork and is survived by his wife and six small children. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and of the Macabees and carried a total of $2,000 life insurance.

Amusing the Baby.

In the matter of amusements, for the first six months at least, the infant does not require much attention. Up to the third month he will find enough to amuse himself, first in getting acquainted with his surroundings, then with the objects in his room, next his fingers and toes. Later let him have a simple toy, but do not crowd toys upon him. The appreciation and pleasure is not as great when there is a surfeit. There is no doubt that it gives the adult a great deal of pleasure to shower gifts and amusements upon children of all ages, but is not the motive more or less selfish on our part? In the pleasure it gives us, we do not overlook the harm we may be doing? In fact, we are sometimes hurt by the child's lack of enthusiasm over our gifts.

Pastor's Deadly Corn Paring.

Dr. M. J. Fiery, formerly a pastor of St. John's English Lutheran church of Lock Haven, but recently of Pottsville, is lying in a precarious condition from blood poisoning, received from cutting a sore corn. Dr. Fiery did the cutting himself and after blood poisoning developed his foot was amputated, but the operation failed to stay the progress of the disease and his life now lies in the balance.

Dr. Fiery was a brilliant minister and will be remembered by the older members of St. John's church.

A Mysterious Death.

The body of an unidentified young woman was found July 18, by men who were harvesting in a field on the farm of C. M. Robinson, an architect of Pittsburg, and a former resident of Phillipsburg, near Hollidaysburg.

The woman was of prepossessing appearance and well dressed. She had been dead but a few hours when found. There were no marks of violence upon her body, and the manner in which she met her death is a mystery.

The coroner has begun an investigation to determine whether the young woman was a victim of foul play or whether it is a case of suicide.

It's an Ill Wind That Blows, Etc.

A windstorm the other week made a fortune for Hector Kent, a poor farmer residing half a mile from Galeton. During a miniature cyclone a large tree on his place was uprooted, and in the cavity made by the uprooted tree was found a vein of sand. It has been utterly impossible up to this time to obtain a first class building sand in that section 'tis said, and thousands of dollars have been expended by the Buffalo & Susquehanna Railroad company alone in the purchase of sand elsewhere.

Captured After Eight Years.

Charles Welland, a fugitive from the Huntingdon reformatory, was captured at Philadelphia about ten days ago, by Pinkertons, who had been searching for him for eight years. He was brought back to the reformatory to serve a term of four years' imprisonment for his escape. Welland, who had been committed for burglary, escaped with two other prisoners about eight years ago, overpowering the guards during a snow storm. Pinkertons are still after the other two men.

The "big head" is a popular way of expressing a common and very frequent ailment. It arises from various sources, but the real foundation is a lack of sense. A little money develops it in some people, a few clothes gives it to others; a little office, where a chance is given to exercise a little authority, is often the cause of it, while others get it having a little better job than their associates. The truth is no sensible person gets the "big head." The ones who become stuck up and stiff-necked from sources of any kind, are weak in the intellectual caliber.

Makes Homely Women Pretty.

Beauty in the Bathing-Cap.

A bathing-cap which actually improves the appearance of the wearer is certainly a novelty well worth describing. It is out this year, and no longer does the summer girl dream to add a waterproof cap to her bathing costume, for this new one is really good looking. It is made in a very clever way, being really a bathing cap and handkerchief all in one. It is made of waterproof material, and comes in a variety of colors and designs. The inside of this novel bathing head-gear is in the form of a round cap shirred to an elastic band. The outside of the cap has the effect of a handkerchief, the ends of which are drawn up to the front of the cap, and are there tied in a jaunty bow; the ends are kept in place by a strap which is just large enough to hold them so that they do not slip after tying.—Grace Margaret Gould in Woman's Home Companion for August.

—“I suffered habitually from constipation, Doan's Regulets relieved and strengthened the bowels, so that they have been regular ever since.”—A. D. Davis, grocer, Sulphur Springs, Tex.

First Aid of Beauty

Nothing is more certain to benefit your complexion than a 25-cent box of Laxakola tablets. They freshen the skin give color to the cheeks, cure constipation, and give you a clear, rosy, healthy complexion. Sold by C. M. Parish.

Suggestions for Merchants.

Newspapers have always had a hard time to persuade retailers to advertise, and even today there are many merchants who scoff at it. The truth is that merchants couldn't do business at all without advertising in some way. They have all done it. They didn't know it was advertising. Their mediums have been windows and the circulation the passing crowds. Now, a newspaper is nothing else but extending your window advertising to a larger circulation. By pictures of the goods instead of goods and printer's ink instead of brush and cards you have only to apply the same principles and you succeed in the same way, but in far greater proportions.—Judicious Advertising.

RUSSIA FACES CRISIS

Parliament Dissolved and Bloodshed Expected.

TROOPS SWARM THE CAPITAL

“State of Extraordinary Security” Enacted and Hundreds of Arrests Were Made—It Is Expected Peasants Will Rise En Masse.

St. Petersburg, July 23.—With the Imperial ukase dissolving parliament the curtain rose upon possibly the last act in the great drama of the Russian revolution. The people and the government now stand face to face, and upon the army depends the immediate issue.

Even should the government, however, succeed in restraining an outbreak of the people, the victory probably will be only temporary and simply confine the steam for the final explosion. No one doubts the severity of the storm which will rise in the country in response to the emperor's dispersal of the men whom he welcomed two months ago in the winter palace as the “best men in Russia,” but the die is cast. The government has elected to fight, and the capital bears testimony of the preparations made to repress the masses by force. The city was packed with soldiers and resembled an armed camp.

The work of gathering in revolutionary agitators began immediately after the ukase placing St. Petersburg in “a state of extraordinary security” was promulgated, and hundreds of arrests were made.

Although the news of the dissolution of parliament spread like wildfire among the members of the various political organizations, the masses here generally are hardly awake to the momentous event. The news traveled fast in the country, and the general expectation is that the peasantry, accepting the dispersal of parliament as the final blow to their hopes, will rise en masse.

The proletariat organizations have been preparing for months for just such provocation to declare open war. It is impossible to describe the consternation with which the constitutional democrats learned the news. Although it had been expected for the past three days, the ukase was received by them in blank amazement.

After a hurried secret conference between opposition members of parliament it was decided on account of the possibility of the meeting being broken up and the members arrested that they go immediately to Finland and decide upon the future course to be pursued. Whether war was given them to meet at Viborg or Helsinki is unknown, but it seems probable that Finland in future Russian history will become synonymous with “the tennis court” of the French revolution. Even Count Heyden, the leader, and other members of the Right are understood to have departed. It is quite improbable, however, that parliament, as a body, will attempt to formally set up its authority against that of the government.

While M. Stolypin, who succeeds M. Goremykin as premier, undoubtedly is a much stronger man than his predecessor, he probably will be unequal to the task of piloting the country through the revolutionary upheaval which is just ahead, and the general belief is that a dictatorship must come soon.

An Imperial manifesto, which is regarded both as a threat and an appeal to the emperor's millions of mulkies to join in suppressing the revolution under promise of land, summons the “faithful sons of Holy Russia.” Many liberals consider this a direct incitement of the Black Hundreds.

In spite of the excitement, the day passed with comparative quiet in the capital, and the street rioting only began with the advent of darkness; but the collisions generally were on a small scale.

About midnight there were rumors of heavier fighting at the Narva gate, where the massacre of the followers of Father Gapon took place 18 months ago. The troops there are said to have fired several volleys, and it is reported there was a number of casualties.

Consternation At Moscow.

Moscow, July 23.—The greatest consternation was created here by the news of the dissolution of parliament. It is expected this action will precipitate revolutionary outbreak throughout Russia. Its effect on the peasantry is especially dreaded. It is feared now that under the spur of the peasant organizations, which probably will order a general strike, they will immediately begin a universal jacquerie.

LIGHTNING KILLS FIVE

Manitowish, Wis., July 23.—Five persons were killed and more than a score injured by a bolt of lightning which struck the grandstand of the baseball park, where 150 people had gathered to see a game between a local team and a nine from Plymouth, Wis.

When the storm came up and it began to rain, all sought shelter in the grandstand. The bolt struck the roof and descended among the crowd, and of the 150 people there half were stunned. Two were found dead in the stand and the other three just outside on the field.

FOUR DROWNED AT ATLANTIC

Father Goes Down With Daughter He Tried to Save.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 23.—The surf claimed four victims within one hour. All met death under sensational circumstances.

A father lost his life in a vain attempt to save his drowning daughter; a young man drowned after a second nearly lost his life in a heroic endeavor to rescue him, and a mid-aged visitor was fatally stricken with hemorrhage while bathing.

The dead are:

Robert L. Thoma, 49 years old, of Camden.

Miss Helen D. Thoma, 13 years old, of Camden.

C. W. Sharpless, 28 years old, of Jenkintown, Pa.

Walter N. Whitlock, 57 years old, of 205 East Grace street, Richmond, Va.

The drowning of the Thomases is attributed to the negligence or cowardice of lifeguards. Helen Thoma was wading in the water, when she was caught in the strong undertow and swept beyond her depth. She called on her father for help and he dashed through the surf, but before he could reach her the current had carried her beyond his depth. For fully 10 minutes he battled in the waves, when old Captain Clark, a life saver, came up, but made no effort to enter the water. Another life guard attempted to reach the struggling father and daughter, but did not succeed. Visitors then launched the life boat and secured the body of Mr. Thoma. A half hour later the girl's body floated ashore.

200,000 VISIT CAMP

Rain Caused Sight-Seeers At Gettysburg to Seek Shelter.

Gettysburg, Pa., July 23.—It is estimated that 200,000 persons visited the division encampment of the Pennsylvania national guard on the Gettysburg battlefield. They came in long excursion trains from all parts of the state, and in all sorts of vehicles. From early morning the camp was crowded until in the middle of the afternoon, when rain began falling. This caused many of the sightseers to leave camp in a hurry and seek shelter in the town.

It was a quiet day in camp. Aside from the morning inspection and short drills for the benefit of the many visitors, all the commands in camp spent the day in rest. There were the usual religious services in the various camps, which were well attended. Some of the officers attended services in the churches in town. Those who did not go to church spent the greater part of the day visiting points of interest on the battlefield.

Governor Pennypacker, who is also in camp for the week, was astir early. After spending an hour reading the morning newspapers he visited friends among the several commands.

AN OLD-TIME PRIZE FIGHT

Bout With Bare Knuckles On a Barge Ends in a Free Fight.

New York, July 23.—A prize fight with bare knuckles between “Amby” McGarry, of this city, and Willie Hoesey, of Albany, two lightweights, was held on a barge in the North river, off 125th street, in the presence of more than 300 spectators. A declaration of the referee in the fourth round giving the fight to McGarry because of an alleged foul resulted in a free fight. The ring was formed on the main deck, and the fight began by Hoesey sending in a whirlwind of uppercuts to McGarry's jaw. In the third round Hoesey knocked McGarry down twice. In the fourth, after Hoesey had sent his man backing all over the ring, McGarry dropped to the floor and claimed a foul, which the referee allowed.

In a moment the barge was the scene of a wild mixup, but the tugboat with the barge in tow reached the dock before any one was seriously hurt.

Sharks Devour Bather's Body.

Wildwood, N. J., July 23.—A human arm, torn from the shoulder, was found on the beach off the jetty at the head of Sheddler avenue. It was identified as that of young Jesse Hunt, of Vineland, who was drowned while bathing. Undertaker Ingersoll took charge of the member and Coroner Thompson will hold an inquest. It is the belief of officials that the body of the unfortunate young man has been devoured by sharks.

Woman Probably Murdered.

Pasadena, Cal., July 23.—Miss Euphemia B. Wilmarth, of New Rochelle, N. Y., a portrait painter, was found dead in a bath room of her residence in Pasadena. Her forehead was crushed and she was lying in a pool of blood. A physician who was called in made a superficial examination and then declared that it was a case for the coroner. Miss Wilmarth was fully attired for the street, and evidently had been intending to go down town.

President Will Review Fleet.

Washington, July 24.—President Roosevelt will review the Atlantic fleet on September 3 at Oyster Bay. The president will be aboard the Mayflower, which is now in Santo Domingo water, but will return before the date of the naval review. The fleet will consist of the first and second divisions of battleships and a squadron of cruisers, under the command of Rear Admiral Evans and under him Rear Admirals Davis and Brownson.

Enterprise Bank Dividend.

Washington, July 24.—Mr. Ridgley, the comptroller of the currency, has announced a dividend of 10 per cent. to the depositors and other creditors of the failed Enterprise National Bank of New York.

THOSE FORTY LETTERS

Battle's Lawyers Will Show How They Were Obtained.

HELEN SCOTT NOW THE ISSUE

Expert Says Letters Show She Was a Co-Between For Mrs. Hartje and Madine, the Co-Respondent—Testimony In Rebuttal.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 24.—Testimony in rebuttal was begun in the Hartje divorce case when the sessions of the court were resumed. Previous to the introduction of this testimony, however, Mrs. Hartje's counsel closed their case in chief. Helen Scott and the letters she is alleged to have written to Tom Madine, the coachman co-respondent, were brought forward as an issue. Fragments of the letters were declared by Attorney Ed Hartje, brother of the millionaire libellant, to have been taken from the sweepings in Madine's room in the Hartje stable. These letters purport to show that Miss Scott gave “Tom” memoranda concerning the facts to which he should testify at the trial.

Testimony concerning these letters was only gotten in after a bitter fight by Attorney John Freeman, for Mrs. Hartje, who contended that this was not properly a part of the rebuttal, but belonged to the libellant's case in chief. The court said that this was true, but admitted the test, saying, however, that these letters would have little weight unless they were accounted for properly.

Expert Perforator Fraser testified that the writer of those letters which Helen Scott admitted was the same as of those letters which are said to show that she was a go-between for Mrs. Hartje and Madine. Professor Fraser was on the stand most of the day, and testified that the writer of the “dear Susie” letter, exhibit No. 6, was the same as that of the admitted “standards,” which is Mrs. Hartje.

Attorney Edward Hartje exhibited a number of fragments which belong to the same letter from the well known exhibit No. 35 was made. This had been folded in two parts, he explained. He said he had had this and the “dear Susie” letter in his possession since last fall.

In order to clear away all doubts regarding the manner in which the famous “40 letters” which have figured in the Hartje case were obtained, the prosecution has subpoenaed as witnesses, Police Inspector Robert Gray, Sergeant Michael Hanley and Special Officer Patrick Golden. Hanley was on duty when Madine reported the robbery of his trunk on June 9. Golden is the officer who made the investigation.

Pan-American Congress Meets. Rio Janeiro, July 24.—The Pan American congress held its first session in the St. Louis pavilion Monday evening. EXPLOSION KILLS FOUR Powder and Dynamite House Near Robertsdale, Pa., Blown Up.

Mount Union, Pa., July 24.—Four men were killed and five injured in an explosion in the powder and dynamite house belonging to Jesse O. McClain, near Robertsdale, Huntingdon county. The dead are: Milton Rohrer, of Fairville, Pa.; Jefferson Ryan, Robertsdale; Edward Alloway, Robertsdale; Alexander Miller, Fairville.

The injured are: Daniel Black, Woodvale; James Hayes, Robertsdale; Charles Clunt, Pogue; H. F. Arnold, Woodvale; Milton Ramsey, Robertsdale.

The magazine was situated half way between Robertsdale and Woodvale, the southern terminus of the East Broad Top railroad, and from it the miners daily obtained the necessary explosives for use in the mines.

A number of the miners went into the powder house and a moment later the whole place was blown to pieces. The cause of the explosion is unknown, but it is supposed that one of the men who entered the building was smoking, and through carelessness ignited the powder.

LEPER ESCAPED

Started On Foot From Baltimore and Is Located at Golden Ring, Md.

Baltimore, July 24.—George Rossett, the Syrian leper, who, while endeavoring to make his way to the leper colony on North Brothers Island, New York, was stopped by the Philadelphia authorities and by their order sent back to this city, where he arrived Monday, escaped and started afoot along the tracks of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in another endeavor, apparently, to reach New York. Late reports are that he has been located at Golden Ring, Md., where he was found asleep in a box car.

On Watch For Escaped Leper.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 24.—Agents of the state health department have been instructed by Commissioner Dixon to be on the watch for George Rossett, the Syrian leper, who is reported to have escaped from a box car on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad between Philadelphia and Baltimore.

BURIED IN FALLING BUILDING

Over a Score Taken Down and Only Nine Went Out Alive.

South Framingham, Mass., July 24.—The front of a partially constructed three-story brick and cement building, a portion of which was being fitted for the postoffice, collapsed and more than a score of workmen were carried down in the wreck. Only nine men were taken out alive, and some of these were badly injured, while eight bodies have been recovered. Ten men are missing. The building is situated in the center of the business section of Framingham, and firemen and members of the Ninth regiment of infantry of the state militia in camp here came quickly to the rescue. WONT ARREST ROCKEFELLER

Attorney Guarantees His Appearance In Court At Findlay, O.

Findlay, O., July 24.—No attempt will be made to arrest John D. Rockefeller when he lands in New York next Saturday. Attorney Troup, of Bowling Green, O., representing Mr. Rockefeller, was here and secured the permission of Prosecutor David and Probate Judge Banker to enter Rockefeller's appearance in the latter's court, and this was accordingly done. Sheriff Groves still has the warrant, but on account of the turn of events will not attempt to serve it. The warrant was issued recently upon an information filed by Prosecutor David charging Mr. Rockefeller and the Standard Oil company with alleged violations of the Valentine anti-trust law.

Investigating Denatured Alcohol.

Berlin, July 24.—The commission composed of Messrs. John W. Yerkes, I. R. Hitt, Jr., and C. A. Crampton, of the United States internal revenue appointed to investigate the denaturation of alcohol, has arrived here to study the German alcohol fuel and lighting industry. Alcohol for these purposes sells at wholesale today at about 20 cents per gallon, and probably more is used here than in any other country for cooking, illumination and motors. The industry is building up and may rival beet sugar in agricultural value.

Harvard to Row Cambridge.

Boston, July 24.—The Harvard University crew, which defeated Yale at New London last month, will sail for England next Friday and, unless the date is changed, will on Saturday, September 1, row a race with the Cambridge University eight, which beat Oxford last spring. The race will be rowed over the regular Cambridge-Oxford course. The Harvard and Cambridge crews will be made up exactly as they were in the race against Yale and Oxford respectively.

Virginia Probing Freight Rates.

General Traffic Manager Hopkins, of that road, testified that there had been no discrimination in localities at all, that the rates were fair and reasonable and that statistics showed that the trend of freight rates got constantly lower.

LABOR IN POLITICS

American Federation Exhorts Members to Elect Their Friends.

ISSUES “CAMPAIGN PROGRAM”

Declares Labor Makes No Demand That Is Not Accorded to All the People, and Asks For Defeat of Those Hostile to Movement.

Washington, July 23.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor made good its declaration of several months ago to enter the field of politics in the interest of the trade union movement, and to exhort all members and friends of organized labor to work for the election to political office of men known to be favorable to labor's cause. From the headquarters of the federation the council issued its “campaign program,” addressed to all organized labor and friends in the United States. It sets out that the trade union movement has kept and proposes to keep pace with the rapid changes in industrial affairs, and that the working people cannot hope to maintain their rights as a progressive position in the varying phases of modern society unless they organize and exercise all those functions which, as workmen and citizens, it is their privilege and their duty to exercise.

It is declared that labor makes no demand upon government or society, which is not equally accorded to all the people of this country, and that “it can and will be satisfied with nothing less.”

The proposed campaign is based upon the allegation that little attention has been paid to the enactment of laws prepared by organized labor and presented to congress, “for the relief of those wrongs and the attainment of those rights of which labor and the common people are justly entitled and which are essentially necessary for their welfare.”

“Attention is called not only to congressional and legislative indifference and hostility to the interests of labor, but also to the interests of the large mass of all our people. The press for months has been burdened with exposures of the corruption and graft in high circles. The great insurance companies, the trusts, the corporations, the so-called captains of industry, have indeed become the owners of the legislatures of our country. Public officials, many of whom have the cry of ‘stop thief!’ nearest the tip of the tongue, have been elected through these very agencies and the contributions from them.”

“If it has come to a condition in this, the greatest and wealthiest nation on earth, that the wealthy dollar is to be worshipped to an extent of forgetting principle, conscience, uprightness and justice, the time has arrived for labor and its friends to raise their voices in condemnation of such degeneracy, and to invite all reform forces to join with it in rekindling indifference to the people's interests, corruption and graft to political oblivion; to raise the standard of legislation by the election of sincere, progressive and honest men who, while worshipping money less, will honor conscience, justice and humanity more.”

“We recommend that central bodies and local unions proceed without delay by the election of delegates to meet in conference, or convention, to formulate plans to further the interests of this movement, and in accordance with the plan herein outlined at the proper time and in the proper manner nominate candidates who will unquestionably stand for the enactment into law of labor and progressive measures.”

“The first concern of all should be the positive defeat of those who have been hostile or indifferent to the just demands of labor. A stinging rebuke to them will benefit not only the toilers but the people of the entire country.”

“Wherever both parties ignore labor's legislative demands a straight labor candidate should be nominated, so that honest men may have the opportunity in exercising their franchise to vote according to their conscience instead of being compelled either to refrain from voting or to vote for the candidate and the party they must in their innermost souls despise.”

The council issues a word of caution that the movement must not degenerate into a scramble for office, but “it should be a determined effort, free absolutely from partisanship of every name and character, to secure the legislation we deem necessary and essential to the welfare and happiness of all our people.” It is expressly stated that “where a congressional or state legislator has proven himself a true friend to the rights of labor, he should be supported and no candidate nominated against him.”

Life Insurance Falls Off.

Albany, N. Y., July 23.—The disastrous effects upon the life insurance business of the sensational disclosures made during the investigation of that business last fall by the special legislative commission is shown in the annual report of the state insurance department on life, casualty, credit and mortgage guaranty insurance. According to the report, the companies doing business in this state issued $3,396,000 policies in 1905 than in 1904, the amount of insurance written last year showing a decrease of $161,727. Moreover, $4,844 more policies terminated in 1905 than in 1904, and $58,543,766 more insurance.

—Wm. H. Ott has resigned his position as mailing clerk at the Bellefonte post office. He was appointed about six weeks ago to succeed W. H. Garman, Mr. Ott did not like the work as it was too confining, he having been used to outdoor work all his life. He is succeeded by Edward Hancoson, of State College, who stood next highest on the civil service list. Mr. Hancoson was formerly secretary of the Nittany Printing and Publishing Co., publishers of the State College Times. We welcome Mr. Hancoson to Bellefonte and wish him success in his new position.
